Itinerary

How to Reach Hampi, Karnataka

Planning a Hampi India trip is easy, thanks to good air, rail, and road connectivity. Here's how you can reach this UNESCO World Heritage site:

By Air - The nearest airport to Karnataka Hampi is Hubli, about 160 km away, with domestic flights from major Indian cities. Another option is Kempegowda International Airport in Bangalore, around 350 km from Hampi, which has both domestic and international flights.

By Train - The closest Hampi railway station is actually Hospet Junction, just 13 km away. Trains from Bangalore, Hyderabad, Goa, and other cities stop here. From Hospet, you can take a taxi, rickshaw, or local bus to reach Hampi.

By Road - Hampi is well-connected by road. Regular state transport and private buses run to Hospet from different parts of Karnataka and nearby states. You can also drive down or hire a cab for a comfortable Hampi Karnataka road trip.

Best Time to Visit Hampi India

The best time to visit Hampi is from October to March, when the weather is cool and pleasant. During these months, temperatures stay between 15°C to 30°C, making it perfect for Hampi sightseeing, exploring ancient temples, and outdoor activities.

Avoid the summer season (April to June), as it gets very hot and tiring for travel. The monsoon (July to September) brings heavy rains, which may cause travel delays and make some temple sites harder to visit.

If you're planning a Hampi trip from Pune or Mumbai, winter is the most comfortable season to enjoy the ruins, temples, and landscapes at their best.
